

Planning Wild Cities

Panel Discussion & Online Book Launch

Thursday 3 December 2020
7.00pm to 8.00pm AEST

Register here

What kind of urban futures are we planning? This book offers a critical exploration of the challenges of planning wild cities within the contemporary urban age. In doing so it considers the nature, role and potential of planning in a climate of change; and whether or not wild cities can - or indeed should - be tamed. Hosted by the RMIT Centre for Urban Research, please join us for this interdisciplinary discussion focused on the following two key provocations:

- ▶ What does it mean to be 'wild' in the 21st century?
- ▶ What does this mean for planning wild cities in climate change

Chair

Libby Porter
Urban Planning
RMIT University

Keynote

Ashley Dawson
Environmental Humanities
The City University, NY

Book Launch

Jago Dodson
RMIT University
Urban Studies

Wendy Steele
RMIT University
Urban Planning

Panellists

Kristen Lyons, Sociology
University of Queensland

Helene Frichot, Architecture
University of Melbourne

Jonathon Metzger, Planning
KTH Royal Institute, Sweden

Lauren Rickards, Geography
RMIT University